Team Statement

Group 6

We will divide responsibilities across each of the major parts of the project to make sure that every member contributes appropriately. For the Entity Relationship Diagram, we assigned each member certain tables to design and collaborated on establishing their relationships and cardinalities. For database implementation, each member will also be responsible for implementing and populating their respective tables. The analysis report and other written components will be divided into four sections, with one member responsible for compiling and editing the final document for cohesiveness. For the source code, we will divide responsibilities for developing SQL queries and building the web interface with all members contributing to testing and integration. The presentation will then be broken down into four speaking sections and each member is responsible for creating their respective slides. We will then review the final presentation together to make sure the flow is smooth and cohesive. To maintain accountability, we will also review each other's progress and meet regularly to maintain consistent communication. We will make sure to support each other and redistribute tasks as needed to keep a well-balanced workload.
